Education

Education is the most effective tool for building an inclusive society and for ensuring participation in society. the proportion of those who have attained higher education in the EU local people of those born in other EU countries working age born outside the EU This ratio shows that those born outside the EU achieve 7.1 less tertiary education than the indigenous population. The ratio of young people between the number of people aged 25-54 with a secondary level the ages of 15-29 who neither participate in education nor employment of education in the EU* for those born 12.7% 18.6% in the EU among nonthose born in those born EU-born local people other EU countries outside the EU *According to 2020 data

- School is one of the most effective areas in the integration process.
- Equal educational opportunities bring together.

Language learning

Adaptation to society more easily

Guidance services such as coaching and mentoring can be offered to support newcomers' educational processes and make this transition easier. Orient8 aims to provide such a service to newcomers with its social mentoring program.

